

Online Poem-a-Day Subscriptions

- A Poem a Day (subscriptions on tumblr) - <https://apoemaday.tumblr.com/>. Some contemporary. Some classic oldies.
- Autumn Sky Poetry Daily - <https://autumnskypoetrydaily.com/>.
- Daily Haiku - <https://charlottedigregorio.wordpress.com/>. Charlotte Digregorio posts a haiku each day on her blog. If you have a wordpress account, you can subscribe.
- Knopf Poetry Poem-a-Day (April only) - https://knopfdoubleday.com/knopf-poetry-signup/?ref=PRHBA30CCFCBCF0&linkid=PRHBA30CCFCBCF0&cidi=2E066F13C6B02B38E0534FD66B0AFA34&template_id=25006&aid=randohouseinc46650-20. Each day during National Poetry Month, Knopf will email you one poem which it has published.
- New Verse News - <https://newversenews.blogspot.com/>. Poems relate to what is in the day's news. Political poems from the more liberal side.
- One Sentence Poems - <http://www.onesentencepoems.com/osp/>. These are almost always fairly short, since they only publish one-sentence poems, and decline submissions that string complete sentences together with semicolons.
- Poem-a-Day from the Academy of American Poets - <https://poets.org/poem-a-day>. Focus on contemporary poets. The poems, which come printed out on your computer screen and—with one click—can be heard read aloud, are previously unpublished poems.
- Poem of the Day from The Poetry Foundation in Chicago - <https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poems/poem-of-the-day>. Some contemporary, some classic oldies.
- Scarlet Dragonfly - <https://scarletdragonflyjournal.wordpress.com/>. Receive a haiku, cherita, senryu or other short-form poem each day.
- The Slowdown - <https://www.slowdownshow.org/>. Podcast produced by American Public Media in partnership with the Poetry Foundation.
- The Writer's Almanac - <https://www.garrisonkeillor.com/radio-categories/twa-2018/>. Garrison Keillor is no longer making new podcasts but if you subscribe you will get a link each day to an old one for the same day of the year and can listen to his short broadcast celebrating birthday and other events in history, and ending with him reading a poem.
- Your Daily Poem - <https://www.yourdailypoem.com/>. Focus on accessible poetry, new and old.

If a poem a day seems too many, you might try Poem of the Week - <https://www.poemoftheweek.com/> during the school year. They generally feature three poems from one poet whose book they recommend.

You may also be interested in Poetry 180 – a poem for each weekday of the school year, project begun by Billy Collins when he was the US Poet Laureate – subscribe at <https://www.loc.gov/subscribe#poetry>. The focus is on poems high school students would enjoy hearing read. Emails come periodically, not daily.

For National Poetry Month

Invite members to video themselves reading two poems – one of their own and one favorite by someone else. Send out a video a day on our email and/or post them on the website.

Invite submissions of short poems for Poem in Your Pocket Day

Chalk short poems on the sidewalk in front of your house and send photos. Post on ISPS Facebook page.